Manager's Korner

March 2019

Tony Toscano

The more I talk to residents the more I find out about all the wonderful travels and experiences they have had throughout their lives. There are wonderful stories of visits to other countries, some I have only seen on National Geographic or the Food Network or on movie sets. Our park has so many wonderful heartwarming stories that people can share with each other, and I hope you do. I have heard some of the funniest stories of adventures or just plain misadventures. I hope at this time we are all comfortable in our own skin (or at least you should be at this time) that we can even tell the embarrassing stories that have shaped our lives. Stories of loved one here and passed tell the story of your passion for each other and those you shared your life with. Don't hesitate to share your stories, they are part of your life and the loves in it. Its those stories that keep your life and those in it alive. All combined, they're what make you, you. As I always have said, Make forever moments whenever.

Stonehedge things: No ongoing projects to speak about at this time although the long range planning committee has been hard at work with the board to look into the infrastructure of Stonehedge for the years to come.

Maintenance man. As most of you may know we have a new maintenance man. His name is Art. Only into his second month on the job he has made considerable improvements to the upkeep of the garage and work areas. I do, as residents too understand that he has a lot to learn about the operation of the common areas of the park as well as the daily, monthly, and yearly routine checks and balances of the operating systems we have in place. He is beginning to understand what is his responsibility, and what is residents responsibility.

The following will sound repetitions, because it is. If this is how you want to waste your money, all good with me.

Parking on the street

Same old Same old – please can someone explain to me why we have the same ongoing ongoing ongoing ongoing ongoing ongoing – gets frustrating doesn't it? Well how do you think the residents feel who manage to keep their cars off the sidewalks and use their carports for what they are intended to be used for, hence the word car port. It is continuously frustrating to those who are courteous and who pay attention to the money spent to keep our streets and sidewalks clear – and in turn clean. If your carport is empty and you are now doing work in it, that's where your car should be parked. We didn't change the rules or ask for any ridiculous acts of courtesy after you purchased. They are the same, only you decided they are not accommodating to your lifestyle. Sorry to inform you. its not your decision.

Parking on sidewalks

We just got the sidewalks pressure washed and sure enough resident cars, visitor cars and contractors doing work on specific homes are not told about parking on the sidewalks, but sure enough I will hear how dirty the sidewalks are. You just spent $3000 to get the sidewalks pressure washed and you can already see what a few tire marks can do.

Dogs off leash – This is an ongoing issue – and it should not be – It is inconsiderate to your neighbors and of park rules and I will leave it at that. Be considerate.

Now's the time. With a few months left to enjoy our Florida winter, now is the time for everyone, snowbirds and permanent residents to clear out and clean up their homes. Soon enough we will be hitting 90-ish temperatures and no one will want to get out side and clean up their home, carport or storage areas of clutter. Most notably, weeds in gutters, mold on homes, clutter in carports, change the battery in your timers. If you have any questions as to what your place should look like when you leave feel free to call the office. Again, don't waste your money on me sending out letters to remind you of your responsibilities as a homeowner in a deed restricted community.

It is with regret that I inform you that Larry Schweizer has resigned from the Budget & Finance Committee. He provided some good recommendations that have been implemented for the benefit of our HOA. I hope he can be replaced with a non-Board member. I would welcome any recommendations.

Dale Thomas, Chairman Budget & Finance Committee

Homes for Sale

We have received the following information on homes for sale (CP = Contract Pending):

Unit 1 – $89.9K for sale by owner; Unit 16 - $62K (CP); Unit 122 - $74.5K; Unit 84 - $50K (CP); Unit 232 - $92K; Unit 158 - $72.5K(CP); Unit 165 - $75.5K; Unit 101 - $76K(CP); Unit 124 - $78.9K; Unit 105 - $85K; Unit 126 - $86.5K.

Laugh when you can, Apologize when you should Do not dwell on what you cannot change, Let go of what you cannot control, Take charge of what you can. Make forever moments whenever. Safe travels, love life.

THANK YOU

It was an honor and my pleasure to serve on your board of directors for the past eleven (11) years; eight (8) as Treasurer, two (2) as President and the past year as Vice President. During my tenure as a Director, many changes for the betterment of Stonehedge were made. We replaced our pool, renovated the Clubhouse to accommodate the office, upgrade the kitchen with new appliances and cabinets, relined more than 50% of our storm sewers and resurfaced the roads, just to name a few. I am leaving knowing that the future Boards will be working to replace our outdated infrastructures, particularly the water lines.

Thank you for your support of me through the years, as I will continue my support of the newly elected Boards in the future. I never tire of hearing the positive comments from strangers about Stonehedge. Your faith and support of those you elect, is reflected in the beautiful park we share as a "family".

Jayne Lucas, #35

NEW YEAR... NEW PEOPLE

It was fun setting up a system, bringing order and organization to the back room. Thank you for respecting the order and system. I'm very glad that Liz Barth has volunteered to maintain this space. Donna Kinsey accepted to maintain the borrowing closet. I know you will extend your cooperation and good will to them.

I worked with Penny Curvin and Tony. To work with these efficient, organized and positive people was a delight. To get to know these genuine and devoted people a true gift.

Thank you it was a pleasure.

Barbara Roy # 69

[Editor's note: Barbara intended for this to be in last month's edition, but it was omitted by mistake. Our bad!]

Participant Guide

Warm season grass in transition! – March 2016

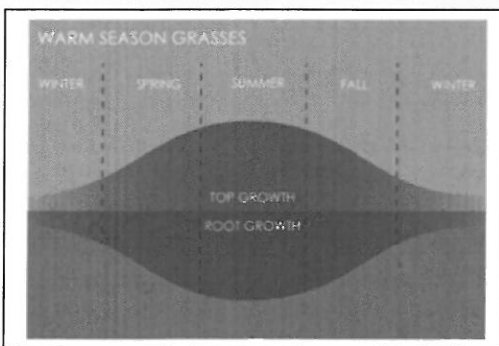

Spring is tough on every warm season grass out there. Seems odd? The weather seems perfect, with sunny days (maybe), moderate temperatures (maybe) and just the right amount of water from rain and irrigation (maybe). What could go wrong?

First, let's start with every warm season grass and what happens in the spring. They are like a bear that is coming out of hibernation. Did you know it's not technically true that they "go to sleep all winter"? Bears can quickly wake up if need be, and their bodies work to match the outside temperature. They come out of winter thinner, with less of a coat, less muscle, and HUNGRY.

We can easily relate this to our warm season turfgrass. Our turf does slow down during the cooler shorter days, but a long warm spell can green turf back up in the middle of "winter". And our grass comes out in the spring hungry. There is a phenomenon called spring root dieback. Every spring, the roots of warm season turfs die back. Some species recover more quickly than others.

There is ONE practice that directly affects roots. Deep watering encourages deep roots. Watering too little, say 15 minutes per zone encourages weak, tiny roots with minimal root hairs. It the root hairs that absorb water and nutrients.

The turf is in a delicate state during the spring, regardless of how nice the weather seems to us. It has been on a several month long fast (depending on the part of the state you are in), and needs to be fed. Get in the grass and pull up a runner and look closely at the roots. Long white roots at the newest part of the runner means the turf is healthy. Brown, short, stubby roots, means the turf needs help. Decide what to do next. Pull a soil sample? Apply potash? Apply 14-0-40? Recommend plugs or other renovation? Recommend aeration? Call the customer? The lawn is in your hands. Oh, and use the branch notes in your handhelds relating to spring transition.

Look closely at this chart. You've seen it before if you've been through RP Winter training! Notice how the roots start to decline in the winter and in the spring they build back up. The turf is sensitive to ANY stress right now, including cold snaps, drought, rains, cloudy days, traffic, insects, and weeds. The days may seem beautiful to us, but the turf is coming out of a long winter period with a shortage of roots.

Do you know how to read a runner? Look at the newest growth. If it is white, long and has lacy root hairs, the turf is in good shape and is coming out of winter nicely. NOTE: bahiagrass tend to have long roots, but very few actual root hairs.

Here's a runner that needs your TruGreen TLC (tender loving care). There is some green, which is encouraging, but notice the stubby short roots, without any fine delicate hairs. We are going into the summer months, and this turf needs help. It could be education on irrigation (overwatering will NOT help), a specific fertilizer, or other recommendation.

What are my "3 Key Takeaways?"

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

What have I learned about Upcoming Weather?

Fill in the blank:

- 1) Warm season turfgrasses are at their peak growth in the spring. True or False
- 2) What does a healthy new root system look like? _____
- 3) When is warm season turfgrass root growth at its fastest? _____
- 4) What could you do with a lawn that is having a difficult transition into spring? _____.
