AIN'T IT THE TRUTH?

- Life is short. Smile while you still have teeth.
- Do elderly hockey players get gerihattricks?
- Old age isn't so bad when you consider the alternative.
- Aging gracefully is a nice way of saying you're slowly looking worse
- The older we get, the earlier it gets late
- My father-in-law is so old that his driver's license says, "Picture may be of someone else."
- Old people are just young people who have been alive for a very, very long time
- You know you're old when getting lucky means a short wait in the doctor's office
- At least I'm not as old as I'll be next year!

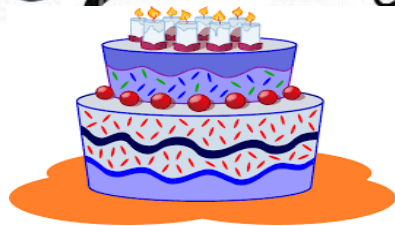

ONCE MORE, WITH FEELING...

Well, another week (or so), and we'll head north to our summer home in the Adirondack Mountains of upstate NY. As we may have mentioned in previous submissions, we spend summers in a 22' camper which we leave on a seasonal campsite in a seasonal campground, located about a mile from the shores of Lake Champlain and about an hour due south of Montreal, Canada. It was in this neck of the woods that we met each other and married, where most of our long-term friends still reside, and where we'd probably continue to think of as home, were it not for the freezing cold weather and length of the winters up there.

This year, it's our plan to stay gone for an extra month (back in November), because we see the hurricane season stretching out and have no desire to be there, if and when our bungalow gets huffed and puffed.

We wish you all a fun-filled summer wherever you are, and we look forward to seeing you on our return.
